THE SOUTH-CAROLINA AND COUNTRY GAZETTE; JOURNAL.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, both Foreign and Domeſtic.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1772.

Charles-Town, July 14, 1772.

THE Subſcriber is much obliged to his planting Friends, who, by landing their Crops at his Wharf for three Years paſt, have thereby introduced it to Buſineſs.---He acted as Factor during that Time, purely to prevent his Friends being Sufferers by their intended Kindneſs to him, as it was very induſtriouſly inſinuated, that Rice would not ſell at his Wharf: But as he is now well convinced, and flatters himſelf all his Friends are fully ſo too, that their Crops landed in large or ſmall Parcels, will ſell altogether as well at his Wharf, as at any other in Charles-Town; and that any Gentlemen, principally concerned in the Factorage Way, will now have no Objection to receive and ſell Rice or Indico landed thereat: He therefore chooſes to decline that Buſineſs, finding it more than he is able to go through. He hopes his good Friends will ſtill land their Crops at his Wharf, where they may depend he ſhall take Care HIMSELF that their Boats have all poſſible Diſpatch.

As to the Safety and Conveniency of his Docks and Stores, he is ſure there are none preferable to them in Town in thoſe Reſpects, and few (if any) Barns in the Country are cooler and more ſecure from Fire; and 'tis almoſt impoſſible for a Barrel of Rice to be loſt or ſtolen in Landing or Shipping at his Wharf. Such Gentlemen as uſe his Wharf conſtantly, may depend on never wanting Storage whenever they do not like the going Price:---No prudent Planter but muſt be convinced, that this Matter of the utmoſt Conſequence to him, as many, for a Decade Years paſt, have had their Crops (when landed in Town) ſold of very much againſt their own Inclinations and Judgments merely for Want of Storage; and this he is ſure has been particularly this Year ſeveral Times, notwithſtanding the Goodneſs of the Crop.

Having long Experience in the FACTORAGE BUSINESS [illegible] and confine themſelves to that only, have taken [illegible] Scales, and will tranſact their Buſineſs on his [illegible] Gentlemen he begs Leave to recommend ſuch [illegible] are not otherwiſe engaged.

Conſtant Attendance will alſo be [illegible] COMPTING-HOUSE on the Bay.---Their [illegible] pplied with proper Boats, agreeable to their [illegible], hope to merit a Continuance of their Favors, [illegible] Attention to their Employers Intereſt, eſpecially as [illegible] determined to confine themſelves to the FACTORAGE [illegible] NESS only; and they aſſure their Friends that they are not [illegible] any wiſe intereſted in Captain GADSDEN'S Stores, ſo that whenever they ſhall think it prudent to Store for a better Market, it muſt be ſolely with a View to their Friends Intereſt.

"In DENMARK; written while her Majesty was a Prisoner in the Castle of Cronenburgh; and now first published from the original Manuscript, sent to a noble Earl.

THE Design of this Pamphlet is to exculpate the unhappy Queen from the Charges, brought against her at the Time of the Revolution in Denmark; the principal of which (according to this Account) were, 1. The Plotting against the King her Husband, in order to dispossess him of the Crown, in Concert with Counts Brandt and Struensee. 2. Infidelity to the King.

The Reasonings against the Probability of the Truth of these Accusations, adduced by the Writer of this Account, are as follows:

"I shall now proceed to offer Some Reasons for the Improbability of my being guilty of the Crimes laid to my Charge. To begin then with the Charge of my being concerned in a Conspiracy to depose the King; to have engaged in a Scheme of this Kind, would have been giving a Proof of as much Weakness as of Wickedness. For, even supposing that such a Design had been effected, the Consequences of it must have been, in the highest Degree, disadvantageous to me; as the Danes would certainly never have submitted to be governed by me (a Foreigner) in either of the Capacities of Queen or Regent; and in that Case, either the deposed King would have been again put in Possession of the Throne, or the Succession would have been entirely altered, by the Advancement of Prince Frederick to the Crown. Thus, which ever Event was to happen, my Ruin would be certain; but, granting that the Enterprize had succeeded, and that I had been permitted to ascend the Throne, I could not have expected to maintain an undisturbed Possession of my Seat; as the Queen Dowager would naturally, under the Pretence of reinstating the deposed King, have sought the Assistance of foreign Powers to dispossess me of my assumed Authority. France, whose Interest at this Court is, through the Power of that Party, very considerable, would gladly have lent her Aid on this Occasion; whilst England must, in Justice, have withheld all Assistance from the Usurper, though so closely allied to her: Add to this, the strong Opposition I should have met with from a considerable Party among the Natives themselves, who are closely connected with the Queen Dowager, and Prince Frederick. Thus surrounded with Difficulties, I should have been soon worsted in the unequal Contest; and, in Consequence, precipitated from my airy Heighth, with the Loss of Power, Liberty, and (most probably) Life. But supposing that I could be blind in some Respects to the Dangers and Difficulties, attending such an Enterprize, on what Side was I to look for Assistance in the Execution of it? The Army have proved, by the Part they took in the late Revolution, that all Application to them would have been ineffectual; the greatest Part of the Nobility were in the Interest of the Queen Dowager; the common People were too much prejudiced against me, by the false and malicious Insinuations thrown out by my Enemies, for me to expect the least Assistance from that Quarter; the Joy they expressed, when my Reverse of Fortune was made known, plainly shews in what Estimation I was held by them. Never yet was a national Revolution effected (even attempted) in which there was not at least a considerable Part either of the Army or Commonalty engaged; but I am charged with having conceived the Design of bringing about such a Revolution, at a Time when, it is apparent, the far greater Part of the Nobility, and the Whole of the Army and Commonalty, were in League against me. Thus surrounded with Enemies, as powerful as they were numerous, to whom could I look for Protection from their Machinations, save to the King, my Husband? And can it possibly be imagined, that I should be so far infatuated, as to seek to deprive him of that Power, which alone could be my Defence against any Designs they might form to my Prejudice? Surely the Absurdity of this Charge can be equalled only by the Maliciousness of it.

"The next Accusation is of a still deeper Dye than the foregoing one. It was necessary to assign some Motive of apparent Weight for my embarking in an Enterprize, so replete with Dangers and Difficulties: My whole Conduct, while at the Court of Copenhagen, proves, that the Thirst of Power (though a Frailty natural to my Sex) was the Foible which, of all others, I was most exempt from: I never attempted to raise a Faction in my Favour, even when I could not but perceive, that there was a strong Party formed against me: But, placing the utmost Confidence in my own Innocence, and the Favour of the King, my Husband, I heard, without Apprehension, the Rumours of the secret Cabals, in which they had been for some Time engaged. My Foes were therefore obliged to fix on some other Motive, than merely that of a Wish to encrease my Power, for my attempting to dethrone the King; and accordingly suggested, that I had engaged in a criminal Intercourse with Count Struensee; consequently, that it had become necessary, to the Safety both of the Count and myself, to deprive the King of that Power, which we were certain would be exercised with the utmost Severity over us, in case the Criminality of our Conduct should at any Time come to Light. They hinted, that (as a strong Presumption of my Guilt) a Resemblance of the said Count, might be plainly traced in the Features of the Infant, my Daughter. They grounded this Accusation upon a (pretended) Familiarity between me and the Count, which (said they) was totally inconsistent with that Dignity, which I ought to have maintained in all my Behaviour, as Consort of the King. It is averred, that the unhappy Count confessed himself to have been guilty of such criminal Connection with me, in the Course of his Examination before the Court of Enquiry. I scarcely can conceive it possible, that the Count could thus cast a Stain upon my Reputation, and his own Honour, by an Accusation so totally devoid of Truth. But even admitting that he did make this Confession, as it was avowedly forced from him by the Tortures of the Rack, such Evidence alone, without any corroborating Circumstances, ought not to have been admitted as Cause sufficient for my Conviction. But my Judges were predetermined to condemn me, though it should be at the Expence of Law, Justice, and Reason. This Proceeding surprizes me the less, when I consider the Influence under which they acted; for I am fully convinced, that the Nomination of the Members of the above Court, and also certain Regulations, according to which they were to proceed, were made by the self-same Authority with that, by which the King was compelled to sign the Order for my Arrest. It is observable, that there is not the least Suggestion thrown out against the Legitimacy of the Prince, my Son. A pretended too great Familiarity between the Count and me was the Foundation, on which my Enemies grounded the Charge against me; and this Familiarity, they alledged, was visible to the whole Court. If this had really been the Case, whence happens it, that the King should be so long ignorant of such a material Circumstance? It is plain he was an entire Stranger to it, at the very Time of my Arrest, otherwise he would never have hesitated to sign the Order for that Purpose. And besides, it must have been a Proof of the highest Degree of Infatuation in me, to have behaved with such Want of Circumspection in a Court, where I well knew, that a great Part of the Persons who appeared before me, were in the Capacity of Spies upon my Actions."

On WIT.

TRUE Wit is like the brilliant Stone
Dug from the Indian mine;
Which boasts two various powers in one,
To cut as well as shine.

Genius, like that, if polish'd right,
With the same gifts abounds;
Appears at once both keen and bright,
And sparkles while it wounds.

LONDON, SEPTEMBER 25.

THE Portuguese Prime Minister has declared to the British Merchants resident in Portugal, in answer to a remonstrance presented to him on that subject, that the rights they now enjoy as British traders were consistent with every treaty subsisting between the two kingdoms on that subject; and while he was at the helm of affairs it was needless for them to expect that these rights should be extended.

They write from Stockholm, that two great officers of State were by the King's orders, privately seized and carried to prison.

Sir Robert-Murray Keith will set out on his embassy to the Court of Vienna, the latter end of this week.

Sir Peter Dennis has positive orders not to visit any Spanish ports, or to molest in the least any of their shipping.

SEPTEMBER 28. The Æolus and Niger men of war at Deptford, being in too bad condition to be employed otherwise, are to be repaired and fitted for hospital ships on the coast of Guinea.

This day Stirbitch fair will begin at Barnwell, near Cambridge, which lasts a fortnight, and is esteemed the largest mart in Europe, not even excepting the grand mart at Leipsick in Saxony.

Monday night, between seven and eight o'clock, at the Sessions-house, Old Bailey, came on before the Recorder, a most extraordinary trial of one Meal, a barber's boy in Drury-lane, charged with robbing on the highway Mrs. Ryan, of Great Portland-street, the 17th of June last. The evidences against the prisoner, who were Mrs. Ryan and her maid, swore positively to his identity; and that on the 17th of June last, at ten o'clock at night, he stopped the carriage they were in, in the New Road, Islington, and robbed them of a seven-and-twenty shilling piece, some silver, &c. They were both so clear in the person of the boy, that by way of confirming it to the Court, they deposed, that on the examination before Sir John Fielding, they immediately pointed him out amongst many others. The charge being brought thus home, the prisoner was called upon for his defence, who said no more than what is usually made by people in his condition, "That he was innocent of the crime laid to his charge, as his evidences would prove." His evidences were accordingly called up, when they proved an alibi in the clearest manner imaginable; but what confirmed this beyond the shadow of a doubt, was, that one of them appealed to the books of the court, to prove, that on that very day, the 17th of June last, precisely at ten o'clock at night, he was then trying for a robbery, of which he was likewise unfortunate enough to be mistaken for another person, as in the present instance, and acquitted. This very extraordinary reference was instantly made by the Recorder, who, from his minutes, declared it to be a fact in every particular. The Recorder then gave a charge to the jury, in which he observed, on the very extraordinary case of the prisoner, how he should, in two instances, be so unfortunate; at the same time attributed the positive evidence on the side of the prosecution, to have arisen entirely from mistake, as indeed it clearly appeared so to all the Court. The jury, without ever going out of the box, acquitted the prisoner.---So particular a case, that a person should be so unfortunate as to be mistaken for another in an affair of life and death; and that even then his life should be saved from the circumstance of his being tried on a former mistake, perhaps stands unprecedented in the chapter of incidents.

An INSCRIPTION proposed for General WOLFE's Monument.

Be this Inscription
Sacred to the Memory of General Wolfe,
Who,
After leading an Army over impervious Mountains,
Through Ways deemed impracticable,
And overcoming the greatest Obstacles,
Engaged his Country's Foes
With Force inferior,
And, regardless of Wounds,
Persisted in the Duties of a General:
Encouraging his Troops,
Till his gallant Soldiers
Hailed him Victor.
When with Joy, he cried,
'Tis enough, I come, I come.
At which last Act,
Applauding Angels,
And the surrounding Spirits of Heroes,
Convey'd his god-like Soul
To the Regions of immortal Bliss.
Thus fell,
By Heaven's Command,
The best of Men,
The great, the good, the generous, and the brave
GENERAL WOLFE;
Without repining
At the Race of Glory.
Appointed by Mr. Pitt,
Who, under an auspicious Providence,
Elevated the British Empire
From the lowest Contempt,
And most disgraceful Condition,
To the highest Pitch of Glory.
Reader, whoever thou art,
Consider,

"That honourable Age is not that which standeth in Length of "Time, nor that is measured by Number of Years. But Wisdom is the gray Hairs unto Man, and unspotted Life is old "Age. He pleased God and was beloved of him, so that living "amongst Sinners he was translated. He being made perfect "in a short Time fulfilled a long Time. For his Soul pleased "the Lord, therefore hasted he to take him away from among "the Wicked, lest he should be corrupted. For his Grace and "Mercy is with his Saints, and he hath Respect unto his Chosen. "Thus the Righteous that is dead shall condemn the Ungodly "which are living; and Youth, that is soon perfected, the "many Years and old Age of the Unrighteous."

WISDOM, Chap. 4.

FROM THE FRONTIERS OF POLAND, August 8. All our letters from the interior parts of this kingdom advise, that the Prussian troops have entered into Samogitia. It is given out that the intention of the King of Prussia is to cut off the communication of the Russian army, that is in Poland, with Riga. And the letters add, that the general who commands the Russian troops has sent a courier to the Sieur de Saldern, to demand what orders he is to follow in this unexpected circumstance. The reasons given by the Prussian for this movement are, that it was necessary his troops should consume the provisions and forage which were in the bishoprics and lands which the King of Prussia possesses in that duchy, as it was impossible to transport them into the other places where his troops were cantoned.

STOCKHOLM, August 25. Captain Hellichius has obtained the King's pardon, after having assured him of his submission; and the garrison of Christianstadt has shared the same fate. [This shews that the insurrection in the last mentioned place was nothing but a pre-concerted measure to justify the violent proceedings of the court.]

ALTONA, September 4. The last letters from Stralsund bring, that the Queen Dowager of Sweden was still in that city, and that the King had nominated her Governess of Swedish Pomerania. Those from Stockholm also inform us, that his Swedish Majesty has disposed of the government general of the provinces of Scania, Halland, Blechingia, Bahus-Lehn and Smaaland, with the command of the troops that have their quarters in the said provinces, in favour of Prince Charles.

CADIZ, August 4. The Emperor of Morocco has given orders for fortifying of the island of Fedala; a project which, it was imagined, he had laid aside all thoughts of. To people this island with the greater facility, he intends sending over a number of European workers, and to grant them certain privileges.

ON Monday, the 28th ult. the Grammar-School, at Nassau-Hall, was examined; and the Scholars acquitted themselves greatly to the Satisfaction of the Gentlemen who were pleased to attend. The Senior Class, ten in Number, were admitted into the Freshman Class in the College. In the Evening, this Class performed a dramatic Piece in Latin, before a numerous and learned Audience.

On Tuesday, the 29th, voluntary Competitions for Premiums, among the Students of the College, in several Branches of Learning, were attended, in the public Library, by a very respectable Number of Gentlemen of Letters, and Graduates from different Colleges. Seven Judges were elected to decide in each Competition.

In "reading English," the highest Premium was adjudged to Belcher-Peartree Smith, from Elizabeth-Town, New-Jersey, of the Junior Class; the next to John-Bayard Rogers, from New-York, of the Freshman; the third to John Smith, from Pennsylvania, of the Junior.

In "reading Latin and Greek," the first Premium was adjudged to Samuel Waugh, from Pennsylvania; the second to John Witherspoon, of Princeton; the third to John Smith; all of the Junior Class.

In "translating from English into Latin," the first to Samuel Waugh; the second to Isaac Keith; the third to Daniel Martin; the two latter from Pennsylvania, and of the Freshman Class.

In "speaking Latin," the first to Isaac Keith; the second to John Blair, from Ulster County, New-York; the third to Charles Lee, from Virginia; all of the Freshman Class.

In "pronouncing Pieces from the Stage," the highest Premium was adjudged to Jonathan Mason, from Boston, New-England, of the Sophomore Class; the next to Belcher-Peartree Smith; the third to Charles Lee.

Mr. Thomas Kittera, of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, was pleased liberally to present two Premiums, of considerable Value, confined to the Freshman Class; the first to be given to the Boy who should discover "the best Acquaintance with Latin Grammar," the second to "the best Scholar in English Grammar." The first was adjudged to Isaac Keith; the second to William Claypole, from Philadelphia.

On Wednesday, the 30th, the anniversary Commencement of the College was held in the Town-Church.

At 10 o'Clock, the Assembly being seated, the President introduced the Business of the Day with Prayer; after which Grier delivered a salutatory Oration, "De Utilitate Scie excelendarum."

NEW-YORK, OCTOBER 5.

On Thursday, September 24th, the Rev. Dr. Myles Cooper, resumed his Charge at King's College.---He was conducted into the Hall by a Number of the respectable Governors of the Seminary, where he was addressed, in an affectionate Manner by the Professors. The following Students, next, in Behalf of their respective Classes, welcomed his Return, in animated and elegant Addresses, delivered with a Warmth which testified the highest Affection, and rendered their Performances truly eloquent: Frederick Philipse, Robert Auchmuty, John Roberts, Peter Kissam.

To each of these the President returned a polite and affectionate Answer.

A Forensic Debate (as usual on that Day) next commenced, on the Question "Whether a Spirit of Conquest was salutary to the Romans? The Affirmative was maintained with great Art and Address, in a very elegant Performance, by Mr. Jauncey, and the Negative by Mr. Stevens; whose judicious Strictures on the Arguments of his Opponent, and sensible Observations on the Subject, did him much Honour, and were extremely entertaining to the Audience. Their Arguments were then briefly summed up, and a Determination given by the Moderator, in Favour of the Gentleman on the Negative Side of the Question.

Some Exhibitions in Oratory were next made, by Messrs. Shreve, Seaman, Auchmuty, and Nicholl, whose just Delivery and graceful Gesture, met with universal Applause.

The Students, then, expressed their Esteem and Affection for Mr. Inglis, in very elegant Addresses, delivered by the following Gentlemen, chosen by them for that Purpose; Messrs. Robinson, Ogilvie, Douglas, and Thomas.

The whole was concluded by the Rev. Mr. Inglis, with sensible and pathetic Charge to the Students, exciting them to Emulation in the Pursuit of Learning and Religion.
